Grade C in both IGCSE and O Level Mathematics satisfies the matriculation requirements of universities in the UK, many anglophone countries and other countries across the world. In the UK GCE O Levels were replaced by the GCSE in the 1980s. IGCSE was introduced by the University of Cambridge International Examinations in 1988 as an international version of the UK GCSE. GCSEs and Cambridge IGCSEs are awarded at grades A*-G. O Levels are awarded at grades A*-E. O Level grades are directly equivalent to the UK GCSE and the IGCSE grades; i.e. an A at O Level is equivalent to an A at GCSE and an A at IGCSE. Students may wish to send a copy of the relevant subject syllabus to support their application to university. These can be downloaded from our website at www.cie.org.uk by clicking on the link to the qualification you are studying and then selecting your subjects.
